etc., etc.

A NOTABLE WAMPUM BELT.

The Shell Belt, apart from the ends of hide, measures $24\frac{3}{4}$ inches long and $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches broad. It consists of 2,696 beads in 16 rows on a woof of thread with a warp of hide, of which 1,583 are white beads and 1,113 are purple. At the end of one of the leathern thongs is a small pouch in the form, apparently, of a tortoise, in which presumably a charm was carried. The chevron pattern in the example figured indicates, apparently without doubt, that the belt belonged to the Iroquois Confederacy,
